

When our landing party beamed down, we discovered a horrifying scene. Two dead operators laid off to the side of a battle scarred room, occupied only by a strange artifact with the English word "Roland" emblazoned on it's hull. It didn't take a Captain to add two plus two. I had Ensign Cannonfodder go up to the machine and see what happens...

